

Testing

Administration of testing for COVID-19 is the responsibility of authorized health-care professionals.

COVID-19 testing sites continue to open throughout the region. Below is a list of area sites. We advise that you check your county health department's website for additional sites as well as hours of operation for sites listed below. The Times Union also maintains a list of testing sites on its website.

In most cases, no one is allowed to show up at a testing site without being prescreened by a medical professional.
